

Dr. Roy V. Patankar
Laparoscopic Surgeon

M.S., FICS, FRCS (Glasg.), FRCS (Ed), PhD (Gastroenterology, UK)

Dr. Roy Patankar is a well-known Gastrointestinal and Laparoscopic Surgeon as well as a leading Endoscopist of Mumbai.

Dr. Patankar has trained at Southampton, UK in the Hepato pancreatico biliary unit with Professor I. Taylor and Mr. C. D. Johnson for 6 years before doing a Laparoscopic fellowship in Strasbourg France at the world famous IRCAD with Professor Marescaux.

He has written chapters for a number of textbooks including the prestigious “Recent advances in Surgery”. He is a faculty at the Ethicon Institute of Laparoscopic training and has more than a dozen International and National Publications. He is also an Asst. Professor of Surgery at Somaiya Medical College.

Special Interests:

- ♦ Advanced GI and Laparoscopic Surgery.
- ♦ Laparoscopic Surgery for Gastro esophageal reflux disease.
- ♦ Endoscopic treatment for varicose veins.
- ♦ Thoracoscopic Surgery.

Professional Qualifications:

1991	MS, KEM, Mumbai
1994	FRCS, Edinburgh, UK
1994	FRCS, Glasgow, UK
1995	PhD, Gastroenterology (Southampton, UK)
1996	FICS